INTERESTING LETTER.

Some Facts About New Orleans.

R. R. Perry, editor of the Sun-Sentinel at Winchester, writes as follows for his paper:

One of the most remarkable things about New Orleans is that it is located some eight feet below the level of the river that flows through it. The water is kept in the channel by levees or artificial banks.

New Orleans is a city of 375,000 inhabitants and was founded by Bienville, a French-Canadian, in 1718. It lies 110 miles from the mouth of the Mississippi River, and comprises the entire Parish of Orleans, with an area of 1961 square miles. It has a harbor ranging in depth from over 290 to 35 feet; thirty miles of wharves, a part of which are covered by municipally-owned, modern steel sheds, and a public belt railroad, which, free of charge, transfers commodities to and from railroads. It is the largest coffee, banana, sugar, cotton, rice, sulphur and salt market in the United States, and, by reason of its geographical location, enjoys unusual rail and ocean transportation facilities. Its population is principally American, with a large number of French-speaking inhabitants—the Creoles of Louisiana, who live in the French, or Creole quarter.

The French Quarter is the most interesting. Here are found the quaint and massive old French and Spanish houses, the wide, paved courtyards with tropical vegetation and flowers, the antique stores and quaint shops.

Canal street is the dividing line between the French and American Quarters. The French is "downtown"—to the north. This is due to the fact that the Mississippi River, as it passes the head of Canal street, flows directly north. Hence the residents speak of "up-town" and "downtown"—a point well worth remembering.

In the French Quarter are located historical buildings and sites, viz.:

The Cabildo—Here the transfer of the Province of Louisiana from France to the United States occurred December 20, 1803. The old Spanish Court buildings.

St. Louis Cathedral—one of the earliest Roman Catholic churches in Louisiana; several times burned and present building erected in 1794.

French Market—one of the world's famous market places, occupying four city blocks. Everyone is expected to visit the French Market. I was not favorably impressed with this section. I saw more dirty women and children than I ever saw in the same extent of territory, and there seemed to be a row over something going on VILLAGE VOTES "DRY" FOR IMPROVEMENTS.

Hudson, Ohio, Will Get Water-Works and Other Public Utilities.

At Hudson, Ohio, February 14, the village voted that it was worth while to remain "dry" for fifty years in order to obtain a water-plant, electric light, sewerage system and other improvements, and after a hot campaign voted to accept the proposition by 162 to 97.

James W. Ellsworth, a native of Hudson, but present millionaire resident of New York, offered the village the advantages named if it would vote "dry" and stay so for fifty years.

When the offer was first made two years ago the village promptly voted "dry" and painted itself white. Ellsworth built a boy's club and a new congregational parsonage.

Discontent arose, however, among the "wets" and petitions for a return of the saloon were circulated, resulting in the above vote. Ellsworth served notice that he would continue his portion of the improvements if the town went "dry" but that on the whole he was rather disgusted.

all the time, but what it all was about I could not understand.

Haunted House—Occupied at different times by Lafayette, Marshall Ney, and Louis Philippe.

Beauregard's Home—Once the home of the noted Confederate General.

Archbishopric—Erected in 1727 for the Ursulines Nuns, nine years after the founding of New Orleans. New Courthouse of white marble—Cost $2,000,000.

Napoleon's House—Erected to receive the Prisoner of St. Helena, who, in 1831, was to have been rescued by French patriots of New Orleans. Before their vessel reached St. Helena Napoleon died.

Hotel Royal—Formerly known as St. Louis Hotel and built in 1816, at a cost of $1,500,000. In the seventies this hotel was bought by the State and used by it until the capitol was moved to Baton Rouge. Statesmen, royalty and famous men were banqueted in this place. Henry Clay was banqueted here at a cost of $20,000, and President William McKinley while Governor of Ohio.

On the ground floor, under the dome, are left some remembrances of ante-bellum days, for here it was that the slave market had its headquarters, and the block where slaves were auctioned is still there.

Canal street is the dividing line between the old and the new town. The modern side is on a par with the progressive cities of America.

NEW YORK PRICES

Compared With London Prices on American Beef,

It is interesting to compare the prices in London with those that New Yorkers are forced to pay.

The West End of London corresponds with our Fifth avenue or fashionable quarter. In that N. Y. district last week porterhouse steak was 35 cents a pound, sirloin 32 cents a pound—8 to 11 cents more per pound than the same beef was selling for in London after all the costs and charges of carrying it 3,000 miles across the ocean.

They don't use shoulder or middle rib much on Fifth Avenue. Only the first six ribs go into the fashionable quarters. And they are sold at 22 and 25 cents per pound.

But in the middle districts, such as the upper Broadway, porterhouse was fetching 38 cents a pound and sirloin 25 cents a pound. Shoulder or middle rib was only 14 and 15 cents a pound and flank or neck 10 cents a pound.

Consequently it will be seen that the middle class in New York were paying 1 to 3 cents a pound more for their beef than the lords and dukes of London.

The beef sold in London is much cheaper than in New York. American beef, bought on the hoof in the same markets used by American packers; it is shipped to Liverpool, is slaughtered in that city, and then shipped as meat to London, Great Britain, adding to the prime cost in America the cost of two shipments and two handlings.

The old side is just as old as it can be.

Southern hospitality is so profuse that it is difficult to get away. We have had 25 miles of hospitality to extend, from Pass Christian to Biloxi. We visited the Confederate Home, the old home of Jefferson Davis. The colonial mansion is left as near as possible as it was when Mr. Davis occupied it. I had a jolly good time joking with the old rebels. The houses of this section run mostly to porches. Even the business houses have porches.

The weather is ideal, just like a May day at home. Yesterday at New Orleans we saw the Frenchman Paulhan fly. He does not speak a word of English. He controls his machine perfectly, makes any kind of a turn and can sail high or low at will. One of the queer things about the Mississippi River at New Orleans is that it runs north when it ought to run south. Everybody gets turned around. The battle of New Orleans was fought four miles below the old town, but it is north. Bodies are buried in tombs above the ground, and judging from the number of them, more people have died than live there now.

$94,000,000 National Debt.

$1,373,000,000 Annual Cost of Crime.

That two hundred persons a week are being murdered in this country and crime is costing us $3,500,000 a day, while the police stand practically helpless, is the striking declaration of Mr. Hugh C. Weir in the Chicago World. He figures that 250,000 persons whom the law never touches "are engaged in the systematic pursuit of crime as a business." Meanwhile the police devote a larg part of their time to gathering in the "drunks." Out of 756,000 arrests in this country last year, over 350,000 were for drunkenness. It is one of the arguments of the temperance reformer that if drunkenness were abolished, the police could give more attention to protecting life and property, and Mr. Weir seems, inferentially at least, to reach the same conclusion. At any rate, crime is rampant and unpunished. Mr. Weir begins with some disquieting remarks on murder:

"Ten thousand persons are murdered in this country every year—shot, strangled, poisoned, stabbed or beaten with a club or sandbag. Of the murders two in every 100 are punished. The remaining ninety-eight escape—absolutely free! In many of our States the proportion of convictions is only half as great. In Georgia, for instance, only one murderer in every 100 is punished. In a recent census of American crime, digesting the nation as a whole, the statement was made that in only 1.3 per cent. of our homicides do we secure a conviction."

"Chicago averages 118 murders a year. In the same space of time Paris records only 15 murders and attempted murders. London, four times the size of Chicago, has only twenty murders. In the course of twelve months, Georgia—a typical example of the American State—records forty-five homicides—more than the whole of the British Empire! More people are murdered in this country in a year than are killed on the railroads. In three years, the victims of our murder cases total more than the losses of the British army in the Boer War."

"And now we discover that when our poets and orators and our artists have finished telling of our greatness and our glory, we have fostered wickedness and lawlessness that has no other nation in the world; that, behind our boasted institutions of government the thief and the assassin are operating with a vigor and a freedom duplicated nowhere else in civilization. And our crime and wickedness are steadily increasing; why we have more homicides every year than Italy, Austria, France, Belgium, England, Ireland, Scotland, Spain, Hungary, Holland and Germany combined!"

"A number of years ago, the jewellers of America were forced to form a national detective organization to guard their property. The bankers of America have done likewise. So have the hotel keepers. So have the railroads. They could not depend on the public police. It was cheaper to maintain a police system of their own. Will the people of America also be forced to employ private watchmen?"

The annual cost of crime, as figured in property stolen or destroyed, and in the money spent on police, courts, jails, etc., reaches the impressive total of $1,373,000,000, yet the police seem helpless. And as if this stinging indictment of inefficiency were not enough, Mr. Weir goes on to say that the police lack in efficiency they try to make up in brutality.

Liquor Sellers Will Ask For Re-Hearing.

At Clarksville, Tenn., attorneys for John Herring and Matt Branigan, whose sentence of six months on the chain gang of selling liquor was affirmed by the Supreme Court, will file a motion for rehearing, and if this is denied both cases will be appealed to the United States Supreme Court upon the contention that they were acting under the protection of the United States Interstate commerce laws.

Big Damage Suit.

of convictions is 82 per cent. of the total number of crimes. In France, it is 61 per cent.; in England, 50 per cent. Do these facts—when offset against our two convictions in every 100 murders—explain why we have more homicides every year than Italy, Austria, France, Belgium, England, Ireland, Scotland, Spain, Hungary, Holland and Germany combined?

"The significant fact about it all is that the rest of the world does not share these statistics. Our increased wickedness is confined to our own borders. In the march of civilization, as applied to the protection of public life and public property, we have fallen woefully behind. We may lead the globe in many things. We assuredly lead it in crime. In Spain, the guilty person is brought to justice. In Germany, the guilty person is brought to justice.

WHY SO WEAK?

Kidney Troubles May be Sapping Your Life Away. Mt. Sterling People Have Learned This Fact.

When a healthy man or woman begins to run down without apparent cause, becomes weak, languid, depressed, suffers backache, headache, dizzy spells and urinary disorders, look to the kidneys for the cause of it all. Keep the kidneys well and they will keep you well. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys and keep them well. Here is Mt. Sterling testimony to prove it:

Charles Wilson, 14 Richmond Avenue, Mt. Sterling, Ky., says: "At my wife I am on my feet nearly all the time and it seemed to weaken the kidneys, causing backache. My bladder became affected and I was annoyed by too frequent passages of the kidney secretions, especially at night. I was finally told to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial and procured a box at F. C. Duerson's drug store. I received permanent relief from the kidney difficulty and the pains through my back disappeared. I am pleased to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to other persons as I know they can depend on them."

END OF SPECIAL JUDGES.

When the Legislature passed the Special Judge bill, it took a long step forward. The law will result in great good to the State and people. In the first place, it raises the salaries of the Circuit Judges to a standard that will attract the very best legal talent in the country districts, where its operations will be chiefly felt. Few successful lawyers, unless possessed of an independent income, can afford to spend the very best years of their lives on the bench at $3,000 a year. To defray their expenses while holding court in distant counties, away from home, and to rear and educate their children, in these times of high-priced living, it takes all the State pays. Under the prevailing system there is no possibility of the Circuit Judges saving anything out of their salaries for old age or other infirmities.

In the next place, the effect of this act will be to practically abolish for all time to come the Special Judge, an officer not sanctioned by our democratic form of government. Litigants are entitled to justice administered by a real court—a court created by the Constitution and presided over by a judge elected by the people and commissioned by the Governor. There is a stability and certainty about the new plan which appeals to every thoughtful citizen, and we have no doubt that much substantial good will flow from this exceedingly sensible piece of legislation.—Louisville Herald.

GONE WRONG TOO.

Among the members of the House who refused to make the County Unit bill a special order was R. D. Hunter from Clark County. The Sun-Sentinel of Winchester, says:

"In the primary campaign last fall we asked on several occasions over Mr. Hunter stood on the County Unit bill and he did not declare himself. We were assured by leading anti-saloon men that he was all right and was flat-footed for the measure."

In speaking of the bill introduced by Rev. Waggoner providing for a constitutional amendment for State-wide prohibition, the Sun-Sentinel says:

"The introduction and agitation of this measure is, as we have said, the result of the way in which the county unit bill is being fought by the anti-saloon people. And the measure will be passed in the near future unless some amendment of the present county unit is permitted."

POOR HOUSE FARM.
The Sentinel Democrat says:

"A majority of the Fiscal Court are anti-machine men and this majority voted to let the Poor House Farm to an anti-machine man over a machine man a few dollars more than the latter's bid. This of course displeased the machine bosses,—accordingly they had their organ the Advocate,—to make a big hullabaloo about the big extravagance of the Court."

To which we reply: We are not nor have we been informed regarding machine and anti-machine men. The editor evidently thought he was saying SOMETHING; he may have forgotten that Mr. Tinker for years has voted the Republican ticket. Again he says "a few dollars." Notice "a few." A difference of $500 to $1,050 is a few with him. "Accordingly they had their organ the Advocate."

Until this fair seeing editor informed us we did not know that the Advocate belonged to "machine bosses." No boss, county official present or past, no lawyer brother or any other man except the type setters in our office knew of or has seen the editorials concerning this poor house contract.

We did not make a big hullabaloo about extravagance. We stated FACTS. We supposed the "majority" could explain their preference. They need not so far as we are concerned. We propose to continue to report FACTS and to express OUR OWN opinions editorially, whether or not they suit other editors.

Again he says: "While the Advocate, at the command of the machine bosses, was busy writing editorials (poor house) all the machine bosses of the State were in Frankfort pleading to have salaries of Circuit Judges raised to $1200 a year."

We did not realize our importance, but really, "all the machine bosses of the State" or of any town have nothing to with the subject under discussion.

The editor of the S.-D. shows as much ignorance about the anatomy of a billy goat as about our relation to machine men and to machine bosses, when he says: "We would rather be a bump on a billy goat's back than have to do as told by a few politicians, and all the official printing of all the political bosses and buckaneers in the country couldn't make us do it." Amen! Go it!

His vision is blurred, he needs more of the same medicine administered last week or a new kind. Who ever heard of a billy goat with a bump on its back? He must be thinking of a camel.

He that tootheth not his own (billy goat) horn, the same shall not be toothed.

DOES HE NEED MORE PERUNA?

The S.-D. says: "The manufacturer of Pinkham and Peruna remedies turned down the repeated appeals of the editor of the Advocate to use the columns of that sheet." The managers of Pinkham medicine have not sought our service, so far as we know nor we them. We have frequently refused to take Peruna ads.

The facts resulting in the indictment of Grant county farmers by a Federal grand jury at Covington are characterized as one of the most literal examples of restraint of trade that has come before the department. Interfering with interstate shipments is like violating the Federal liquor laws.

We call special attention to "Tax Levied by Crime," on first page. Men on whom rests the responsibility for the enforcement of law should carefully consider it.

Merely a Suggestion.

During the dinner hour on board a steamer, the author of this article was much disturbed by the vulgar way in which the man who sat next to him ate his meat. DO NOT SELL RUM.

Advice of Bishop of St. John to Catholics.

The Lenten pastoral letter of the Rt. Rev. T. Casey, Catholic bishop of St. John, N. B., read in the churches of the diocese, caused a stir by its strong pronouncement against the liquor traffic, his words being declared the most severe arraignment of the liquor business ever given in official Catholic utterances in the maritime provinces, perhaps in Canada, and culminating in what is looked on as a direct call to every Catholic in the liquor business to give it up.

The pastoral was peculiarly of interest in the St. John city portion of the diocese, as nearly all the sixty-four retail liquor dealers here are of the Catholic faith. It read, in part:

"Not less guilty before God than the unfortunate drunkard himself is the false friend or the barkeeper who places temptation in his way."

As a means of lessening the temptation to drink, the letter states: "We look with favor on the efforts to limit the number of liquor stores and to see that the principles of Christian morality are observed."

"If not in itself a sin to sell wine or spirits, the business is dangerous to such an extent that only the great profits accruing can make men unmindful of their risk of perdition."

About 1,500 Cattle On Market Trade Fairly Brisk.

There were about 1,500 cattle on the market here Monday. The quality was not good. Trade was fairly brisk, and while the day was a miserably mean one there was a fair crowd at the pens.

The best 1000-lb. steers sold at 5c, with a few fat 1100-lb. steers at $5.25; yearlings, 4½ to 5c; heifers, 3½ to 4½; cows, 3 to 3½; bulls, 3½; old cows and rough oxen, 1½ to 2c.

We caught a few sales:

Lafe Risner sold a yoke of 2100-lb. oxen to Jas. McDonald at 5c. Same party sold a yoke of 1900-lb. rough oxen to J. M. Kress, of Lincoln county, at 3c.

J. M. Adams sold 8 750-lb. cows to T. M. Jones, of Stanford, Ky., at 3c.

D. C. Cleveland, of Cynthiana, bought a yoke of 2000-lb. oxen of T. M. Murphy at 5c.

Sam Rothwell sold a yoke of 2100-lb. steers to Dan Welch at $3.25.

O. H. Downing sold 6 800-lb. cows at $3.25 and a bunch of 700-lb. heifers at $4.35 to Wm. Whaley, of Paris. Same party sold a bunch of 800-lb. cows to J. M. Kress, of Stanford, Ky., at $2.85.

Lafe Risner sold a bunch of 900-lb. steers to D. C. Cleveland, of Cynthiana, at 5c.

Women Fail to Win for School Suffrage.

After securing a favorable report from the Senate committee on their bill permitting women to vote in school elections and hold school offices, it looks like the women of Kentucky are doomed to defeat by an unfavorable report from the House Committee on Suffrage and Elections.

Forcible arguments in behalf of the extremes were made before the committee by Mrs. Desha Breckinridge, of Lexington; Mrs. James A. Leech, of Louisville; Misses Laura Clay, and Belle Bennett, of Richmond; Desha Breckinridge and S. J. Roberts, of Lexington; H. V. McChesney and J. T. Crabbe, of Frankfort, and Dr. J. N. McCormick, of Bowling Green.

The committee went into executive session, but adjourned without taking an action.

SHORT COURTSHIPS AND HASTY MARRIAGE.

The Lexington Herald is discussing the cause of divorce. In most instances the cause is short courtship and hasty marriage. The parties to the contract don't find each other till after marriage, and often they are dissatisfied when revealed to each other in their true characters. Then it is an unhappy home or the divorce court. —Owensboro Inquirer.

ANNUITY GIVEN TO WIDOWS

Origin of Long-Time Custom in Massachusetts Village Is Lost in Antiquity.

One hundred of the largest and most tender herrings is the annuity offered to all the widows residing within the confines of a town of Pembroke, a small Massachusetts village. It is a secret, however, that its origin is beyond recall of the oldest inhabitant's memory. The weirs are town property. John Le Farge is in charge of the fishing, and he sees to it that every householder gets all the extra fish he needs.

Each male resident of the town is allowed to come to the weirs and take 200 herrings, for which he pays 50 cents. Both of the weirs in the town may have their 200 fish at that rate and in addition 100 fish are given to them free, according to the old custom.

Lively scenes are enacted as the residents race to the brook while the fishing is done. Oftentimes an army as many as 35 or 30 are waiting their turn.

The brook bears the name of Barker stream, after a family which settled there in the early part of the seventeenth century, within a stone's throw of the weirs. The brook is narrow, so it has been called the "narrow brook," as it has been called since its earliest days.

It is a fact that the brook flows into the North river at Marshfield boundary, but the place where the old homestead used to stand is unknown to this day.

When fishing is over, the herrings are taken from the brook every year, but the only fish sold of this number are the ones left by the householders who do not care to take their share. These are sold to merchants, the revenue going to the town treasury.

IT HAD A FAMILAR SOUND.

Abraham Schiff, who was arrested with several friends in Newark for gambling, was arraigned before Judge James C. Dickey, of the circuit court in that city recently and made to plead that they were merely playing a Russian game called "one thousand."

"Explain the game," said Judge Herr.

"Well, you know," said Schiff.

"What's that?" asked the judge. "One thousand?"

"No, no," said Schiff, "it's a Russian game."

"What's that?" asked the judge. "One thousand?"

Langley's Answer.

When questioned as to the report that he wanted the Covington District Attorneyship, Hon. John Langley said:

"Some years ago I was an applicant for this place, and, but for the fact that I am a member of Congress, with more than a year yet to serve, and expect to be re-nominated and re-elected, it still might appeal to me."

"There are so many matters affecting my section still pending, however, that I feel such a step would be unfair to the people who have twice elected me. I assume that the story originated among friends who know my financial condition as a result of the two hard races I have won, and who are anxious to see me get a place that would be more beneficial to me financially."

Did the people elect him or did he buy the office?

Memory of The Maine.

The twelfth anniversary of the destruction of the battleship Maine was observed in Havana harbor on Feb. 15, with more elaborate ceremony than any anniversary since the tragedy. A fleet of tugboats and yachts bearing the members of the Havana camp, United Spanish War Veterans, the Daughters of the American Revolution, the American legation and consular officers and representatives of the Cuban Government visited the wreck where service for the dead were read.

After this a bronze commemorative tablet from the Daughters of the American Revolution, a floral medallion from the Spanish War veterans, a wreath from President Gomez and many other floral tributes were affixed to the wreck.

The Banana.

The banana is one of the curiosities of the vegetable kingdom, being not a tree, a palm, a bush, a shrub, a vegetable or an herb, but a herbaceous plant with the status of a tree. Although it sometimes attains a height of 30 feet, there is no woody fiber in any part of its structure, and the bunches growing from the dwarf banana plant are often heavier than the stalk which supports them. No plant gives such a quantity of food to the acre as the banana; it yields 44 times more by weight than the potato and 133 times more than wheat. Moreover, no insect will attack it.—London Chronicle.

Record Ice Crop.

The heaviest ice crop in thirty years is being harvested in Chicago. 2,500,000 tons will be stored in the ice houses that supply Chicago. There will be no decline in the price, however. The delivery cost is the largest item in the retail price. The retail ice sells for $8 per ton and brings no greater profit than the wholesale ice at $2 per ton.

Consular Bill is Passed by Senate.

The diplomatic and consular bill passed by the House carried an appropriation of $3,700,000. The Senate passed the Bennett "white slave" bill, which had previously received the sanction of the House. The measure eliminated the interstate regulations contained in the bill.

Always Snow on Pike's Peak.

There is never any part of the year when Pike's Peak is entirely without snow. In the hottest July and August weather snow is to be found even at a considerable distance from the top of the mountain.

Confusion of Poisons.

The poisoner may make a mistake in putting a skull and crossbones label on bottles of poisons. They will teach the simple peasant, who cannot read, to look for the poison label when he is thirsty, and who can tell how much carbolic acid, vitriol and such deadly drugs will be taken in the guise of the other poisons?

Boys Go to Front.

Thomas Taggart, former chairman of the Democratic National Committee, has a son, Tommy, Jr., who recently was graduated from one of the Eastern colleges. It is understood young Taggart is going to be a hotel man like his father.

A few years ago the Taggart family were discussing the question of what line of work the young man should pursue when he left college, and, Tommy, then a youth of fifteen, said he wanted to be a hotelkeeper.

"All right," said Mr. Taggart, "you'll have to begin in the kitchen and work up to the front."

"That will suit me," replied the boy, "you can make a stable boy out of me if you want to, but I'll bet you I won't be there long. I'll get to the front all right."

The presence of a Yale graduate in the kitchen of the French Lick Hotel will be interesting to Mr. Taggart's guests this summer. The elder Taggart at one time sold sandwiches in the Union Depot at Indianapolis.

His Hogship A Delicacy at Present Price.

It looks as if those who have been abstaining from meat on account of high prices and from choice will have many accessions to their ranks in the not remote future.

Plain old hog meat that used to be considered common everyday substantial meat for the hard-working man is on the high road to the ranks of luxuries.

Nine dollars is a magnetic price to the farmer, but it seems that the farmer has not the hogs and furthermore that he is not likely to have them for many months. The farmer has been getting a fancy price for his corn and has been neglecting hogs.

This is not the only country in which the crop of hogs is short. According to the Government reports there is a falling off in the supply in Canada, United Kingdom and Australia of 12½ per cent. or over a million hogs as compared with last year.

Proof Life Exists on Planet Mars.

Announcement of final proof that the planet Mars is inhabited was made by Prof. Percival Lowell, the famous Martian expert and director of the observatory of Flagstaff, Ariz., to Chicago astronomers February 14.

Prof. Lowell announced that he had seen a canal spring into being last summer, water had just been turned into it, and vegetation had just sprung up in a hitherto uninhabitable part of the great desert which comprises most of the planet's surface.

The new canal is 1,000 miles long, and the strip of vegetation on its banks, revealing its presence to the eye and the camera, is about twenty miles wide.

I regretted this as the most important proof yet discovered of the existence of life on Mars.

Burley Growers Across the Ohio.

Plans are being made to push the work of pooling the Burley tobacco crop of Ohio and to add several counties of that State to the territory now controlled by the Burley Tobacco Company.

Plans for the organization of the Ohio tobacco raisers were made when W. H. Patterson, of Pike county, O., and President Clarence LeBus, of the Burley Society, held a long conference in Lexington, Ky., on February 16. Mr. Patterson is a prominent farmer in his county, and owns several extensive farms, on which he grows Burley tobacco in large quantities. He told Mr. LeBus that the farmers in Ohio were anxious to join any pool which would increase their earning capacity.

An attack of grip is often followed by a persistent cough, which to many proves a great annoyance.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been extensively used and with good success for the relief and cure of this cough. Many cases have been cured after all other remedies had failed. Sold by all dealers.

SAVE YOUR FOWLS!

Bourbon Poultry Cure is recognized as the standard poultry remedy of the country and can be depended on with absolute certainty to cure and prevent Gapes, Cholera, Roup, Enteritis, and other diseases of poultry. A few drops in the drinking water keeps fowls healthy and free from disease. A 16 oz. bottle makes 12 gallons of medicine. Fed the treatment of Blistered and other diseases in turkeys.

MUST "CUT IT OUT."

Rural Carriers Must Not Stop To Shoot Game While on Duty.

Rural delivery carriers who have been doing a little hunting on the side will be required to "cut it out." The Postoffice Department has issued an order that carriers must not stop to shoot game while on duty.

Carriers who have formed the habit of taking along the family shotgun when they start on their route and taking an occasional pot shot at a squirrel or rabbit will feel keenly this curtailment of their privileges. To those whose routes lie in regions where any game is left this order of the Postoffice Department is likely to be a rather serious matter. Carriers who have been able heretofore to supplement the household larder with the trophies of their marksmanship will be compelled either to join the anti-meat boycott or to lay out a larger amount than usual for the family food supply.

The carrier is no longer required to collect loose pennies out of mailboxes. The powers at Washington have decided that the shotgun must be left at home, or, if carried along, must remain in a state of innocuous desuetude, no matter if nearby hickory trees along the route are alive with shootable specimens of animal life.

It is rather tough on the carriers. It may come to pass that the unfortunate carrier will be forbidden to lift a few apples from a farmer's orchard, or to pick a basket of blackberries. And all because Silas Perkins waited half an hour at the crossroads for a letter "from them goldarned commissioners" telling up to Louisville, where he should have been stripping tobacco.

Like Finding Money.

W. S. Lloyd, the popular druggist, is making an offer that is just like finding money for he is selling a regular 50 cent bottle of Dr. Howard's celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at half price. In addition to this large discount he agrees to return the money to any purchaser whom the specific does not cure.

It is only recently through the solicitation of Druggist W. S. Lloyd that this medicine could be bought for less than 50 cents. He urged the proprietors to allow him to sell it at this reduced price for a little while, agreeing to sell a certain amount. The result has justified his good judgment for the sale has been something remarkable.

Anyone who suffers with headache, dyspepsia, dizziness, sour stomach, specks before the eyes, or any liver trouble, should take advantage of this opportunity, for Dr. Howard's specific will cure all these troubles. But if by chance it should not, W. S. Lloyd will return your money.

Bryan's Liquor Views.

Many representative Democrats of Nebraska on February 14, held their annual dollar dinner, and incidentally set in motion the coming State and congressional campaigns.

Prior to the formal banquet gathering, the statement of Wm. J. Bryan, sent from South America, in which he declares himself for county option in Nebraska and a divorce of the liquor traffic from politics, formed the theme of discussion.

References to Mr. Bryan were generally laudatory. Denunciation of the new tariff law was the central idea in the addresses.

A few minutes delay in treating some cases of croup, even the length of time it takes to go for a doctor often proves dangerous. The safest way is to keep Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house, and at the first indication of croup give the child a dose. Pleasant to take and always cures. Sold by all dealers.

Did You Ever Notice

That when the biggest bargains are on you have the least money?

That when the roads are most impassable the coal bin is lowest?

That when you have the most to do you are least inclined to do it?

That when you have nothing to worry you, you begin to worry lest it is a sure sign that you are about to have something to worry over?

That the reason the world is not better is because your plan of reform is not adopted by everybody?

Too Uncertain.

The efforts made by the United States government to establish a wireless communication between Japan and San Francisco, Cal., by way of Hawaii, have been in the main unsuccessful, although messages have been successfully forwarded. At the present state of the art, the transmission is too uncertain to be of any commercial value.

WARREN TOPPAN, Lynn, Mass.

Cured of severe compound cold and cough by

Vinol

"From Dec. 20, '08, to March 1, '09, I got a cold and a cough, and of the other, I got so weak I could hardly get around. Nothing seemed to help me until I began to take Vinol. The Vinol has completely cured my compound cold and stopped the terrible cough—and what surprises me most, at the same time it has cured a severe stomach trouble that has bothered me for 20 years."

Vinol is certainly a wonderful medicine."

Mr. Toppan is one of Lynn's most prominent and highly respected merchants, whose word is as good as his bond.

The reason Vinol is so successful in such cases is because it contains the two most world-famed tonics—the medicinal strengthening body-building elements of Cod Liver Oil and Tonic Iron.

MEANT TO HAVE HIS LIFE.

Violous Attack by Australian Natives on Trespassers in Their Country.

Men who venture into the interior of northern Australia are likely to meet with violent treatment from the natives. Here is a matter-of-fact account concerning one James R. McPherson, engaged in pearl diving.

On July 18 he was diving for trepang (sea cucumber) in the waters of the river on the east bank of the river, near a bush smokehouse for the curing of trepang had been erected. He upset a Malay with canoes and drove natives to gather trepang from the water.

He had paddled the dingy west on the larger, which was anchored more than a mile out, with a load of fresh water. He remained at the convergence with this old Junction of the river, waiting for the natives to manipulate the trepang. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon, feeling tired, he was reclining on the floor of the smokehouse, with a rifle across his knees, when he was startled by the loud swishing sound of several spears passing through the gunboat-covered inclosure.

McPherson immediately rushed out and saw seven or eight Liverpool river natives at the back of the smokehouse with spears sharpened and with murder in their hearts. They sprang forward, and several fell around him, and he retired toward the water's edge and as he dodged one another long-barred spear struck him in the hip. He felt no more, he says, than a burning twinge from the spear at the moment and instinctively broke it with his hand, leaving about eight inches of the barbed point buried in the fleshy part of his hip. The natives at this time were about forty yards away, having never shifted from their first point of attack.

The man who had wounded McPherson was in the act of throwing another spear when McPherson shot and hit him. Then he emptied his revolver at his assailants, who immediately disappeared in the adjacent scrub. Hearing shot in the water, the natives came hurrying ashore with the dingy, and conveyed McPherson to his boat, where he subsequently succeeded himself in tearing the barbed spearhead from the wound. Several barbs seemed like fishhooks were broken off in the process and remained in the wound.

The following day McPherson had his trepang gear and crew to another part of the coast and started for Palmerston to report the matter and have the wound attended to.

The man who had wounded McPherson was in the act of throwing another spear when McPherson shot and hit him. Then he emptied his revolver at his assailants, who immediately disappeared in the adjacent scrub. Hearing shot in the water, the natives came hurrying ashore with the dingy, and conveyed McPherson to his boat, where he subsequently succeeded himself in tearing the barbed spearhead from the wound. Several barbs seemed like fishhooks were broken off in the process and remained in the wound.

No Weddings, No Burials, No Fees. Because there are no funerals, no more marriages and no more babies, no more boys born" in the backwoods of Max Friedman, sexton of a little synagogue in Madison street, he will escape paying the high cost of a funeral.

He will escape paying the support of his 12-year-old son Max, who was recently committed to the Jewish Pro-tector's by Justice Hoyt in the child's court.

"What is your business?" asked the sexton.

"Scammons of a synagogue," came the answer, but an interpreter had to explain that scammons means, in English, sexton.

"How much do you earn?"

"Eight dollars and thirty cents a month."

"Is that all?" persisted the Justice, observing that the father is an able-bodied, prosperous-looking citizen.

"Yes, that's all," replied Friedman.

"When I attend a chasen (wedding) I get $1, but our people don't marry."

"When I attend a leivaya (funeral) I get $1 to $2, but our people don't die any more."

"That's enough," interrupted the Justice, "you win. I commit the boy and you need not pay anything toward his support." — New York World.

Not Fair Game.

The citizens of Carlton are enraged over the actions of a hunter who recently shot a pet deer of the neighbor. During the forest fires last summer, the hunter, a member of the Mill company, captured a fawn which he brought to his home and had cared for since. The fawn grew up around the doorway and became thoroughly tame. It would travel about the town, calling on the neighbors, always returning to the house for the night. It was the pet of the town.

One day a hunter driving through the town saw the deer in the street and shot it. The indignation of the citizens was something fierce, and it was only through the counsel of the wiser ones that the slayer escaped bodily harm. — Henton Pioneer.

Old Enough to Have Sense.

That a man is never too old to get into trouble was illustrated the other day in the Columbia county court, Helena, when a man, 70 years of age and weighing 200 pounds, was tried before Judge Evans on a surety of peace charge. Mrs. Clara Hall, an elderly woman, who had been threatening to burn her home, and with throwing stones at her. The veteran had Mrs. Hall arrested on the charge of threatening to kill him. Their faces were as pale as death and Mrs. Hall, in tears, told the court of her trouble.

Judge Evans told the litigants that they were both too old to get mixed up in court and directed them to go back home and live peacefully.

III AERPLANES.

Why Heavier-Than-Air Ships Are Able to Fly.

The principle involved in aeroplanes, machines heavier than air, is that of gliding over a fluid. The air under the flat surfaces may be considered as being compressed. And the greater the velocity of the plane the greater the compression.

Thus: Suppose that a horizontal or slightly inclined upward plane is moving in the air under a force of a given impulse; it will traverse a much greater distance than a body of any other shape driven by an equal force. I tried this experiment by throwing stones and tin plates. Different shapes of stone, iron, wood, etc., were thrown out over a canyon. The smooth stones did not go more than 250 feet, wood and iron less. Then flat shingles were thrown horizontally or inclined upward. Two were sent at the proper angle and speed to "catch the air," and they flew 1,500 feet. This is the principle elaborated by Langley in his basic experiments.

With enormous speed a velocity theoretically, if not actually, could be reached where the air under the plane would be as solid, be a road for the flying plane.

In front of lightning the air becomes solid and turns the electricity aside in zigzag paths. Meteors, at their maximum speed of 42 miles per second, compresses the air in front. The aeroplane rides on air which itself compresses. The greater the speed the greater the weight sustained.

To Build New Bridge.

The big L & N. bridge at Paris, Ky., 700 feet in length, spanning Hinkston Creek, at the foot of Main street, at a height of sixty feet, and which has done service since 1853, is soon to be replaced by an all-round steel structure.

STOMACH MISERY FOR OVER 6 YEARS.

Think of it! After six years of sour stomach, of gas eructations, during which time a meal lay on his stomach like a lump of lead, a man was restored to perfect health by Mi-o-na stomach tablets.

Read what Mr. Hoffman, landlord of the Webster Hotel, writes: "I suffered misery and intense pain from stomach trouble for over six years, and all the doctoring that I did or medicines I used were of no avail until about two years ago, when I used a treatment of Mi-o-na. The first few days' treatment helped me greatly and upon using it a while I was made entirely free from any stomach trouble or complaint whatever. Since the cure by Mi-o-na I have regained my weight, I eat and sleep well, am never nervous, and my entire general health is much better." — Max. M. Hoffman, Webster, N. Y., Aug. 2, 1909.

Mi-o-na relieves stomach distress in five minutes. It acts like magic. It is guaranteed to cure sour stomach, gas eructations, heartburn, dizziness, biliousness and nervousness, or money back. For sale by druggists everywhere and by W. S. Lloyd for 50 cents a large bottle.

Stops Neuralgia Pains

The shooting, tearing pains of neuralgia are caused by excitement of the nerves. Sciatica is also a nerve pain.

Sloan's Liniment, a soothing external application, stops neuralgia pains at once, quietes the nerves, relieves that feeling of numbness which is often a warning of paralysis, and by its tonic effect on the nervous and muscular tissues, gives permanent as well as immediate relief.

One Application Relieved the Pain.

Mr. J. C. Lee, of 1100 Ninth St., S. E., Washington, D. C., writes: "I advised a lady who was a great sufferer from neuralgia to try Sloan's Liniment. After one application the pain left her and she has not been troubled with it since."
